

Delphi is located in North Central Indiana with a population of 3,000. DCSC covers a large area and encompasses other communities, such as Camden, Rockfield and Burrows. The county showcases its unique history from the days of the Wabash & Erie Canal with canal boat rides, restored cabins, and an Interpretive Museum. A restored Delphi downtown features a beautiful Classical Revival Courthouse and an Opera House from 1865. The DCSC area values and supports its schools.
